Budget

RoadGoat's proprietary Budget ratings are built using advanced data science techniques. Budget ratings represent the daily cost of being at the location, including lodging, food, and other expenses (such as car service and public transportation). Ratings represent an average across a destination's seasonality.

Budget ratings are derived by analyzing more than 15 open data sets such as historical hotel and vacation home prices and consumer price indices (e.g. US CPI).

Rating	Text	Example Places
8	Extreme	New York. Zermatt.
7	Very High	Tokyo. Paris.
6	High	Barcelona. Rome.
5	Medium High	Singapore. Montreal.
4	Medium	Rio de Janeiro. Singapore.
3	Medium Low	Quito. Cairo.
2	Low	Delhi. Sofia.
1	Very Low	Phnom Penh. La Paz.

Usage is free up to the rate limit.

Rate Limit: Usage of the API is subject to an hourly rate limit of 1,000 API calls per hour. If you are currently over limits, our API will return a 429 error.

YELP FUSION API additional information

Does have datasets for learning purposes but not representative of group we will likely be using BUT might be useful in the development process

Daily Rate Limiting

In addition to QPS rate limiting, there is also a limit to the number of Fusion API requests that can be made per day.

By default, a client is limited to 5,000 API calls per 24 hours, resetting every midnight UTC. Your remaining calls, along with your maximum and the time at which your limit will reset are returned in the header of each response.
